

Bio

Nick Monaghan is the incumbent Director of Development at Anoka Technical College. Nick really enjoys working with the fun and diverse student body and faculty and would like to continue his role as Director of Development for the 2017-2018 school year. Currently Nick is in the process of getting an Anoka Tech newsletter up and going to keep the student body and faculty up to date with the goings on of the school and with Student Life in general. Nick would very much like to continue his role as the Director of Development at ATC. Nick will strive to work in tandem with both the student body as well as faculty and staff to maintain a fun and positive place to learn and grow as a community.
